

JEANNEAU 33i

A new model, the Jeanneau 33i is a versatile performance cruiser with several unusual features including a swing keel option and unique layout of its running rigging. Available in standard and performance versions this French boat will have wide appeal.

ACCOMMODATION

The main feature of the two-cabin layout is the very large stern berth and, in the saloon, a sliding chart table is another standout. This allows the navigator two seating options and shows off the versatility of this new design, with two additional crew able to sleep on the comfortable settees.

RIG & DECK

To simplify running rigging and save on winches, all lines run aft on the port side, with only the jib sheet to starboard. The Performance version of the 33i has a Selden 9/10 fractional rig with two sets of swept spreaders and a taller mast, giving more sail area. A large wheel and binnacle dominates the cockpit which is uncluttered, apart from the mainsheet.

HULL

The hull is very upright with no overhangs, which maximises waterline and helps speed. For tidal waters the swing keel allows the 33i to be beached and even transported. But the deep keel is an attractive proposition as it comes with a very large bulb which should make the boat a great performer. Also, stability is good giving the ability to hold onto sail for longer during club races. Power is via an easy maintenance shaft drive and large spade rudder adds to the boat's grip on the water.
